CAPT. O'BRIEN SAYS HIS TEAM IS READY TO GET REVENGE

FINAL WORKOUT FOR LOCALS HELD TODAY

This Afternoon the Squad Is In a Sequestered Spot Recupercating For the Crucial Struggle With Donora High School

GAME WILL BE A "HUMMER"

Charleroi Out to Avenge Last Year's Defeat—Where Tickets For the Game Can Be Secured—Charleroi Contingent Will Be Accompanied By Band

Yesterday morning Coach Stepanian, assisted by "Jimmy" Anderson, former Carnegie Tech star, held a two hour work out on the Charleroi Baseball field, and the squad was given a thorough going over prior to their final workout which was held this morning. In the afternoon the coaches and squad hiked out into the country. This afternoon the team will motor to an appropriate spot in the interior of Washington county, where they will remain until Thursday morning. No practice session will be held during their sojourn in the wilds, the purpose of the trip being solely to rest the squad members.

Captain O'Brien stated that his men were not thinking in terms of post-season games with Turtle Creek or New Castle, but are considering one objective only at this time, and that is Donora High School. He further claims that they are not only out to win Thursday's contest, but to avenge last year's defeat as well. The game, from the expression of the desires of the team members should prove to be a "hummer."

Three thousand tickets have been allotted to Charleroi fans. These tickets have been distributed about town and can be purchased at the following places of business: The Grand Pool Room, the Brunswick Pool Parlor, Piper's Pharmacy, Henning's Drug Store and John's Drug Store. Lock No. 4 fans can purchase their tickets at Kramer's Drug Store. Local patrons are urged to buy their tickets before arriving at the field. Charleroi High School receives fifty-five per cent of the net receipts, and Donora High receives the same. The remaining ten per cent is paid to the Monessen Playground Association. Donora is allowed one hundred and fifty dollars expenses according to the agreement.

Officials for the game have been definitely chosen and are the same as announced Monday, viz: Baird, referee; Gross, Umpire; Evans, Linesman. The Charleroi contingent will be accompanied by a band, the same band in fact as hired by the Athletic Association for last year's Donora game. This year however, through the generosity of the loyal fans, who by subscription raised enough money to engage it, for the California, Monongahela City and Donora contests. It is expected that a crowd equal to that at the California High School game will be on hand to see Captain Barney O'Brien and his team make their supreme effort of the season against Donora on Thanksgiving morning. Let's go, Charleroi! No overconfidence, just give 'em some of that spirit displayed in the Normal Reserve game, and there will be no doubt as to the outcome.

Thomas Warrenford announces that extra trolley service will be on schedule for Thursday morning's game at Monessen. Three cars will leave First Street at 9 a. m. and at 9:30 four cars will leave immediately after the game five cars will leave for Charleroi.

CHARLEROI FANS WILL BE FOOTBALL WILD TOMORROW

Local football fans are to be especially favored tomorrow in that they will have the opportunity, if they so elect, of seeing two football games; the struggle at Monessen at 10:30 tomorrow forenoon, when Charleroi High clashes with the Donora High aggregation in a contest which means so much for Charleroi High. Then, in the afternoon, after the game in Monessen is over and people are still discussing it, pro and con, the Married and Single Men of the Charleroi Fire department will settle that little argument—that little difference which lies between them—at the Charleroi Baseball park. This game is called for 3 o'clock, and interest in the contest is scarcely less than that of the big game in Monessen.

As we go to press, hope, that eternal entity that rests forever in the human breast, is at fever heat in anticipation that the Charleroi eleven will prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that they are supreme when it comes to high school football in this valley; and the star of hope is further entrenched high in the hearts of fans and the public here that Charleroi High will continue in the even tenor of its way by conquering all competition for W. P. I. A. L. honors and land the coveted goal so eagerly sought for by the high school teams each year in this section of the state.

Speers Couple Are Married 31 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Davenport of Speers, were delightfully surprised last Sunday, November 23, when about thirty relatives gathered at their home to celebrate their thirty-first wedding anniversary. A bountiful supper was served by the relatives. The couple were presented with several presents, tokens of esteem. The following people were present: Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy and children of Charleroi, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raible of Duquesne, Mr. and Mrs. William Mears and daughter Elizabeth, of Belle Vernon. Mrs. Margaret Charlton, of Monongahela; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Davenport and daughter, of Pricedale; Mr. and Mrs. William Hickey and children, of Speers.

Domestic May Have Been Foul Play Victim

Greensburg, Nov. 26.—Found late last night on the public highway near Irwin, her skull battered and suffering with numerous bruises, Miss Minnie Hoover, 60, died in the Westmoreland hospital today. Miss Hoover, a domestic employed in a house at Irwin, was found by a crew of the West Penn Street Car company men. The motorman saw the woman's white-stockinged feet protruding from a bush and notified the authorities. It has not yet been determined whether the woman was a victim of foul play or was struck by an automobile.

Local Damage Case Is Of Much Interest

A suit to recover $1,000 as damages to his automobile has been filed by Dennis Laborie against S. E. Bosworth, both gentlemen being residents of this borough. The suit is the result of a collision between the machines of the two men near the Monongahela Valley Country Club on June 15, 1924. The statement of claim sets forth that the defendant was driving his car in the opposite direction from the plaintiff at a high rate of speed, and on the wrong side of the highway. The plaintiff avers that the necessary repairs to his machine as a result of the accident, cost $500. He also seeks to recover $500 for depreciation in the value of the automobile as a result of the accident.

CLUB-SCHOOL GIVE PROGRAM

An entertainment consisting of two plays and several solo numbers was given with the combined efforts of the Speers Community and Hospital club and the Speers school, on Tuesday, November 25. "PECK" WEBSTER COMING TO THE MAJESTIC

Charleroi friends of Vernon Webster, known to all as "Peck" will be pleased to learn that he will make his first appearance in a star role in the motion pictures when he will be shown at the Majestic theatre in "Border Intrigue." "Peck" is known to the screen as Jack Vernon, and is listed in the all-star cast as such. Manager Rosenbloom has announced that the picture will be shown December 10 and 11. "Peck" depicts the part of a younger brother to Franklin Farnum, and takes a very prominent role. A number of photographs have been sent to the Majestic, and can be viewed by his friends upon request at the box office.

A LECTURE ON SOOCHOW

The citizens of Charleroi will have a splendid opportunity this evening to get some first-hand information about one of the most interesting cities in the world. Dr. O. C. Crawford, who has spent twenty-four years in China, will give an illustrated lecture on that city and its environs in the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church at 8:30. The regular school of missions will meet at 7:30. Both of these meetings are open to the public.

MRS. LEVY FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Harris Levy, aged 64 years, widow of Moses Levy and daughter of the late Solomon and Lillian Harris, who died Monday morning in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Kimball, 3704 Hobart street, Pittsburgh, were held yesterday from the Kimball home with interment in the Jewish cemetery, McKees Rocks. Mrs. Levy, who is the mother of Mrs. Bennie I. Skovitz and Saul Levy of Fallowfield avenue, has been ill for some time. She was well known in Charleroi and her death comes as a shock to all her friends.

With befitting ceremonies the corner stone of the Russian Orthodox St. John the Baptist church of Lookout avenue will be laid Thanksgiving Day at 1 o'clock. The completion of the new church has been completed and labor on the edifice will continue after tomorrow and it is expected it will be ready for occupancy within a comparatively short time.

Holy Liturgy will be served at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the temporary church, the Russian hall, where services have been held since January 1924. Fire destroyed their beautiful church in December, 1923. There will be approximately eighteen priests of the Russian Orthodox churches in the Monongahela valley take part in the services. Two dioceses will be represented, and their deans, the Very Rev. Sergius Bacciachich of Pittsburgh diocese, and the Very Rev. Joseph Stepanko of the West Brownsville diocese, will assist in the ceremony.

Cities from the various towns and counties such as Brownsville, New Salem, Maestown, California, Bentleyville, Cokeburg, California, Monessen, Donora, Monongahela, Jacobs Creek, McKeesport, Duquesne, Rockwood, Allegheny, McKees Rocks, Woodlawn, Bradock and Curtisville, Pa., will be present at the service.

The choir of St. John the Baptist church under the direction of their rector, Rev. E. F. Volokodoff, has been practicing to render a pleasing program of church music at the services, both in church and at the dedication. Hymns will be taken from the repertoire of the world renowned Russian composers such as Rachmaninoff, Arhangelsky, Rimsky, Korsakoff and Frigieroff.

At the conclusion of the services all those out-of-town guests will be invited to the dinner at the Concordia hall in Crest avenue. After the dinner, games and dancing will be enjoyed. The dinner and dance are being held under the auspices of the Sisterhood of the Assumption of Virgin Mary. The sisterhood has been organized since September, 1923, to help the various needs of the church and to assist in paying off the very insignificant mortgage which had been on the property, but the fire destroyed the old church and now the new

Four Teams Remain In Running For W. P. Scholastic Honors

The statement by the chairman of the Syracuse cup committee Monday evening after its meeting, leaves one less high school eleven to figure in the W. P. I. A. L. race. The teams left are Turtle Creek, Bradnock, New Castle and Charleroi, providing the last two mentioned come through with victories on Thanksgiving day. Schenley was eliminated from further competition, according to the statement. The committee arrived at this decision after three hours of deliberation, going over the records of the high schools with perfect records.

said that Schenley did not meet the calibre of teams which year after year the out-of-town elevens tackle.

In the case of New Castle the committee agreed to abide by the decision of the W. P. I. A. L. and as he decisions committee of the league awarded the Lawrence county eleven a protest over Jeannette, this gave them a clean slate and the right to compete for the title. However, they are yet to beat Grove City on Thanksgiving Day and need a victory over the Grovers to assure them a place in the running.

Charleroi has the toughest foe of yet to step over. The Stepanian-jacked eleven has yet to beat Donora before it can get consideration from the Syracuse Cup men, although at the present time its record puts it at the top in the race for honors. And it is resolved to do this tomorrow, "Turkey" day.

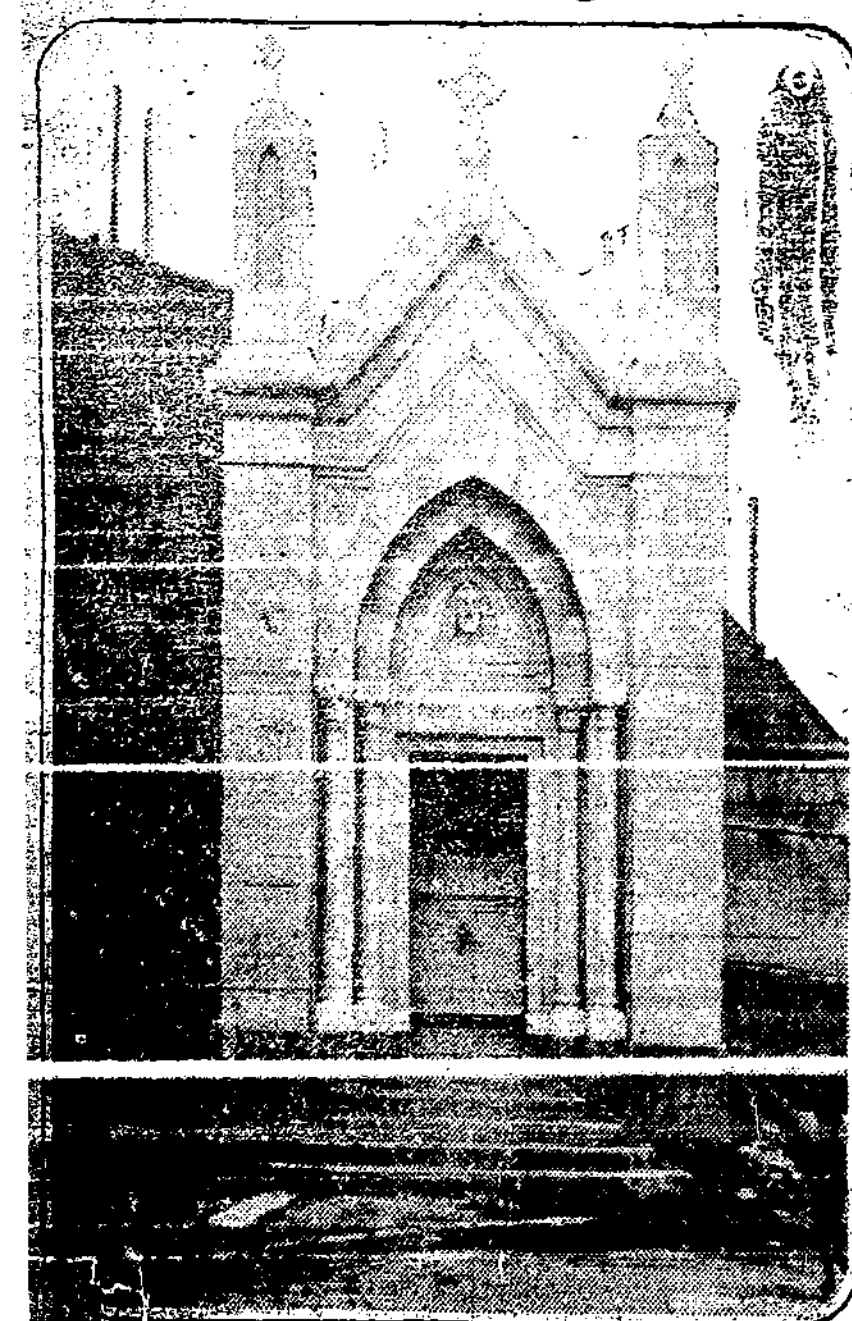

Treb Forces Ritz To Quit In Bout At Wheeling, W. Va.

A short blow to the jaw which leveled with lightning speed landed Ritz on the chin. Ritz took the blow which toppled Frankie Ritz of Wheeling and New Castle to the canvas at the State Fair Park at Wheeling last night just as the bell sounded for the end of the second round of a scheduled ten round bout and gave Harry Gren, world's middleweight champion, an easy victory over his aspiring local opponent.

Ritz, weakened by a terrific first round knock a lacing in the second and before the finish went down again. The Wheeling fighter took the punch with his feet held grotesquely in the air, where they had caught in the ropes as he rolled over from the force of the knockout blow and when his nose was dragged him to his corner. The Noble Davis' call for the fight was answered by a barrage of towels and sponges from the corner.

The finishing blow landed so lightly that it was missed by many spectators. As the two fighters were looking from a clinch, Gren pulled Ritz around with an unexpected tug. Easy jobs ruin as many men as his right hand, and as Ritz was easy females.

South American Pug

Makes Last Stand In Gotham Tonight

Luis Vicentini, the last of the birds of South American pug breeders who swept down on the rings of the United States about 18 months ago swinging Latin leather at native chins, will go into the ring again this evening and with him will go the last hope of the lands below the isthmus.

Luis has a date to fight Sid Terris a New York boy who used to beat up his friends free, as an amateur in church basements and club gymnasiums around New York but who now charges high fees for the same favors. The match is to be a 12-round fight to a decision at the lightweight limit. Madison Square Garden the scene of Vicentini's debut, is to be the battle site, and Vicentini's finish is not unlikely to be the outcome.

TO TRY AND GET

O'CONNELL IN "GOOD" AGAIN

Charles H. Graham, manager of the San Francisco Club in the Pacific Coast League of baseball clubs, is to make a personal plea to Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis for reinstatement of Jimmy O'Connell, former outfielder for the New York Giants, who was ousted from organized baseball for an attempt to bribe a player on an opposing team. Graham expects to arrive in Chicago Thursday, according to a letter received from the San Francisco manager by a friend at San Francisco, and will lay O'Connell's case before Mr. Landis.

Graham is credited with having developed O'Connell, and helped to negotiate the deal in which he went to the Giants.

"I believe the powers of organized baseball will keep O'Connell out of the game for a couple of years," Graham said, "I am asking that they give the boy another chance after that time."

Gunboat Murray is a kicker of note, but not at football.

Another painter will be painted red on Thanksgiving, Bud Snow.

Another Rickenbacker Ace in Bill Lowstuter will be torn down Thanksgiving.

John Murray may be able to lay brick, but he can't lay the married men's team.

Illinois has their Red Grange, but the single men have their Bald Headed Bruce Hays.

Forrest Doyle is a glass blower of note, but his blowing will not help him any in this game.

We wonder what Woodward Garage will do after Thanksgiving day, without the services of Mutt Lowstuter.

Chaggy Patchum, would he Stax of the single men, which the married men claim will be easy bacon for them.

Jack Teitelbaum will need an invitation of the Prince of Wales to take Shiek Coulter's place after Thursday.

Mook McGuire may be able to climb over tin roofs, but climbing over the married men's line is a much harder job.

John Lundy was married last Thursday in order to play with the married men but the married men will not have him.

J. D. Berryman has requested the single men to handle Handy Handcock lightly, as he is needed in the store on Saturday.

They will be looking for a new Shiek to take the place of Dutch Kurpjuweit in the Fire Department after Thursday.

The single men have great confidence in Dutch Wagner and Tom Brown, two stars of the California Normal Crack Team.

Wanted—A first class Fire Truck Driver after next Thursday, as the married men's fleet footed end will be among the missing, the next few days.

Chuck Lowstuter employed at the West Penn, may be able to stand an electric shock, but the shock he will receive on Thursday will be the greatest of them all.

The Pittsburgh Steel company will accept applications for the vacancies caused by injuries to Lew Phillips, Tom Phillips, Red Balmer, Roy Falmer, M. Jones, Jos. Entrott, John Wolfe and Tink Jacobs, after Thursday.

ROYALTY IS SPARED BY LONDON CROOKS

Convention Is Strictly Observed by Underworld.

New York.—Officials in America who are charged with the protection of visiting royalty—for instance, the prince of Wales—would be saved considerable worry if American thieves would accept a convention observed by their colleagues in the United Kingdom. British thieves will not rob any member of the royal family. There are laws of the underworld that exist chiefly in the minds of outsiders, such as "honor among thieves," but the exemption of royalty seems to have a somewhat firmer basis, if the police records show anything at all. Robbing royalty isn't considered "clubby."

London's crookdom believes there's a divinity that hedges round a king, even if New York's thieves are strong for democracy in such professions.

It is not that the personal popularity of a royal individual is a factor. Yet even so popular a figure as the prince of Wales, who became King Edward, was robbed of a gold watch in 1865. It was at the Cherish steeplechase. And he never is one of the few exceptions, which include also the theft of a dressing case from the duke of Edinburgh 50 years or so ago.

Little affairs of that kind are regarded as showing a want to tact. A king's messenger would be fair game, but not a king himself.

This attitude came to light in a practical form only a few months ago, after a report of a robbery had been reported by some one undetected. The victim was Prince George. The king's youngest son left some trinkets in his room in the West End and they disappeared. There was a set of diamond cuff links that Queen Alexandra had given him, a stickpin and some other links, one set bearing a "G" in diamonds and another of different fashion.

The loss became known to the public and in a day or two a reluctant man visited a police official and left a little package. Everything was there.

Breaks Sidewalk

Leavenworth, Kan.—Dale Dunkin, a youth weighing 320 pounds, plunged eight feet into the basement of a store when the stone flagging over which he was walking broke in the center. The slab of stone was eight feet long and three inches thick. Dunkin was injured severely.

Stings Horse to Death

Lost Golf Ball Found by Dying Rattlesnake

Augusta, Ga.—Local golfers have killed wild birds and pigeons with their mighty drives, and it is even said that innocent bystanders have been knocked silly by ill-guided balls. But it remained for Morton Jones, automobile dealer, to set a new record in this line. Playing golf with Judge J. C. C. Black, Hugh H. Saxon and Miltedge Lockhart, Mr. Jones sliced his ball on the twelfth tee and when the elusive ball was found behind a close declivity it was lying close beside a diamond-back rattlesnake. The snake measured three feet and had two rattles.

Warm Current Exists, No Matter How Called

It was with some consternation that one read in the newspapers that the gulf stream had been proved a myth. One of the sacred scientific trinity had died, what was to become of the others, the nebular hypothesis and the law of gravitation?

A closer reading, however, was reassuring, remarks the New York Evening Mail. It appears that M. Le Danois, a French savant, asserts that there is no such thing as a gulf stream. What is called by that name is a combination of ocean tides.

There are, he says, two kinds of water in the North Atlantic, warm and cold. The warm moves in a northward current to some undetermined point and turns backward again. The fluctuations, however, are tidal.

One has a vague memory of reading something very like that in the physical geography book about twenty years ago. Apparently the phenomena exist, whether the explanation is correct or not.

That which we call a gulf stream by another name will still be sweet to migratory herring and sardine and, happily, one can still paraphrase "Romeo and Juliet" regardless of whether Bacon or Shakespeare wrote it. And the warm Atlantic current the glacial period regardless of whether one accept the nomenclature of Franklin or that of M. Le Danois.

Early United States Official Given Honor

The 1922 series of the United States Treasury Department's Treasury Notes bears the likeness of Michael Hillegas, the first Secretary of the United States. The group of the Treasury Department was planned on July 20, 1777, when the Continental Congress appointed two treasurers. The appointments were Hillegas and George Clymer. The latter soon resigned to accept his seat as member to the congress. Hillegas discharged the duties of treasurer until September 1, 1789.

The Treasury department was organized under an act of September 2, 1789. Strictly speaking it was organized for the department, under various names had been in existence since 1773. The Constitution went into effect March 4, 1789. Washington was inaugurated as the first President of the United States April 30, 1789. It will thus be seen that Hillegas was treasurer many months after the inauguration of Washington, and for nine days after the Treasury department was organized under the Constitution.

Festival of St. Peter

On the eve of St. Peter's day bonfires were commonly prepared and ignited throughout Great Britain. This festival was most fervently kept up at Eton during the Middle ages, where the boys made their bonfires against the church. In London the day was also associated with bonfires in the streets and with the setting of a Watch at night the Watch parading with torches, and sometimes numbering fully 2,000 citizens. History records how King Hal disguised in a guardsman's coat, went privately into Cheapside to witness the pageant. Yorkshire fishermen remembered St. Peter on his day by holding festival, dressing their boats and painting their masts, and sprinkling the pious with good liquor for good luck.

Jimson Weed Valuable

Both the leaves and seeds of the Jimson have medicinal properties. The leaves are collected at the time of flowering, and the entire plant is cut or pulled up and the leaves stripped and dried in the shade. The leaves are poisonous, causing dilation of the pupil of the eye, and are used principally in asthma. For the collection of the seeds, the capsules should be taken from the plants when they are quite ripe, but still of a green color. The capsules should then be dried for a few days, when the seeds can be removed and the seeds can be dried. These should then be carefully dried.

Intelligent Reading

If the books which you read are your own, mark with a pen or pencil the most considerable things in them which you most desire to remember. Then you may read that book the second time over with half the trouble, by your eye running over the paragraphs which your pencil has noted. It is but a very weak objection against this practice to say, "I shall spoil my book"; for I persuade myself that you did not buy it as a bookseller, to sell it again for gain but as a scholar, to improve your mind by it; and if the mind be improved, your advantage is abundant, though your book yields less money to your executors.

When Pillory Was Used

The use of the pillory for the punishment of evil doers was only abolished in England during comparative recent times, and was in active operation in June, 1837. This peculiar form of punishment has a venerable history, and was known before the Conquest, in the form of an instrument of torture called the stretch-neck. The pillory was usually dedicated to fraudulent dealers in shams, gold rings, or counterfeiters of papal bulls, until Star chamber tyrants made it a political weapon, whereby many a noble heart was tried and tempered.

Mandy Had Had Enough of "Tan'tizin'" Husband

"Ah, as 'Tan'tizin' Gals, do lawyer what handles divorce cases?" inquired a bayonet-looking colored woman, opening the door of an attorney's office.

"I handle some divorce cases," admitted the lawyer. "Do you want one?"

"Ah, suttinly does. Meh name am Mrs. Mandy Purdin, an Ah wants to sot mahself shot of dat good-fornoobin' husband' o' mine, Lysander Purdin."

"On what grounds?"

"Grouns? Say's which, grouns? Why, right head in Houston."

"What is your complaint against him? What has he done?"

"Complaints, Miss Gals, is some thin' Ah ain't got nothin' else but. An' dat low-life he's done everthin'. But de latest is dat he's up an' gone an' went an' insured his life for five thousand dollars. Kin yo' imagine dat?"

"But my good woman, his insuring himself is no grounds for complaint."

"But insurin' his life for five thousand dollars, dat insurin' an' when he ain't got no idea at all of dying, he done it jes' to cantize me! Yassuh, jes' to cantize me!"

Effective Maybe, but

Price "Done Tuk 'Em"

Gen. Sterling Price of Missouri was one of the best fighters in the Confederate army, but he was a scholar in inverse ratio. Complex tactical movements in practice did not stagger him, but tradition has it that the simplest problem on paper was beyond his grasp.

During the early days of the Civil war he was at Fort Mifflin, Pa., where he was a graduate of West Point. He was a mathematician, a civil engineer and an authority on military tactics and strategy.

At Corinth, Miss., he was ordered to put his theory into practice, and had placed about the city what he termed a series of "unpardonable" fortifications. He took General Price in his carriage to view these fortifications, carefully explaining them to him. Then he asked Price about the thought of the system.

Price strengthened himself up and said thoughtfully: "Well, hadn't never seen one like 'er but once before."

"They were pretty effective, weren't they?"

"Yep, fine. I done tuk 'er."—Kansas City Times.

Put Her Foot in It

I went to a small town to teach school, and found that every one seemed to be related to every one else. That cut me off from all chance for friendly gossip, for one could never tell when she would be gossiping in front of some of her aunt or cousin.

I was explaining this, laughingly, to a girl in the town who had been nice to me.

She remarked, "Yes, that is so, but I am one exception—we have no relatives here outside our immediate family—you may gossip to me about anyone."

"Well, the people I want most to gossip about are some new ones—don't know their name, but she calls him 'daring Donnie dear,' and they are too silly to be around sane people."

"Oh," replied my friend, "I had forgotten about my brother Don and his wife—they've been married about a month, but we don't think they are sillier than anybody else."—Tribune-Sunday Herald.

Multiplication Feat

The following method is generally used in the multiplication of Roman numerals. It is necessary to remember that half of C is L, half of L is XXV, half of V is II and half of II is I. Write the numbers to be multiplied side by side. Double the first one and take half of the second, putting down an O if there is no remainder and an I if the remainder is one. The two numbers thus obtained are set down under the original numbers, and the process is repeated until the second column ends in I. Then cross out the lines that end in O and the sum of what remains in the first column will be the product.

Postal Service Growth

The United States postal service really began in 1639 when an office was set up in Boston to receive letters from Europe. The growth has been steady ever since. High lights in its course were the appointment of Benjamin Franklin as first postmaster general in 1775, adoption of gummed stamps in 1847, free city delivery in 1863, railway post office service in 1864, rural service in 1896, postal savings banks in 1911, parcel post in 1913, airplane mail service in 1918 and daily transcontinental air-mail service in 1924.

Grapes Valuable Food

Eat grapes and fight anemia. Grapes are particularly valuable in the health diet because of the iron they contain which helps to build up the red corpuscles of the blood. There is no need of a medical motive to persuade us to eat this delicious fruit, but to know that while we are eating grapes we are building up our circulation is surely not disconcerting.

In addition to the iron the grape contains other highly valuable minerals, which it carries into grape juice, and other preparations to which this abundant fruit so readily lends itself.

AUDITOR'S REPORT

OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE BOROUGH OF CHARLEROI, CHARLEROI, PA.

The Auditors, Charles L. Phillips, George H. Kline and N. S. LET US GIVE THANKS.
Sacred to the hearts of the American populace; secondary only probably to Christmas itself, is Thanksgiving. Thanksgiving is a time not only to render thanks to the Giver of every good and perfect gift, it is a time to take self measure of our conduct to see whether we measure to the standard in accordance as we have been the especial care of the

The origin of Thanksgiving day is not clear, but it has been generally celebrated since the time of President Lincoln. And each year it is looked forward to, not only for its religious significance, but further, because it is a time for family reunions, social functions, the display of sports, and countless amenities which cause the hearts of Americans to pulsate with unusual vigor. But in all these things we should not lose sight of the true import of Thanksgiving, and that is, to give thanks to Omnipotence for the blessings which He has bestowed upon us, unworthy as we all are.

In another sense Thanksgiving is a time when we can follow out scriptural writ in "being our brother's keeper." It is our privilege to give succor to our neighbor who is not so favorably situated as we are, and by some act make him feel that after all life is worth the living; that all the world is not against him; and that while he may be poor in this world's goods, he has much to be thankful for in that he has health and is privileged to walk the same earth and breathe the same air as the million-dollar ride. And if there are those tomorrow who are laboring under their burden of care and sorrow, let us remember them and if possible make their paths for tomorrow and for the future, brighter and better.

In the old days Thanksgiving was set aside by our forbears as a day in which thanks to the Great Jehovah predominated, and the time was not given solely to pleasure. Let us trust that in this advanced day and age that we, as their descendants, become ingratiated with much of the same spirit with which they were imbued—and that was to live godly lives, to follow the course that has been planned for us; to be thankful for our blessings and try to learn that in our troubles and tribulations the silver lining to the cloud is ever present and that through the crucible of suffering the greatest of rewards await those who have been grateful for their blessings here, conscious of eternal happiness as the inevitable goal.

Vessel Construction
Marvel of Ingenuity
An achievement like that of the ocean liner which met and survived a gale in the waves 100 feet from trough to crest, represents for the layman an almost incredible triumph of design, says the New York Herald-Tribune. The unimaginable fury of seas which could break over a bridge 65 feet from the water-line, which could rip away rails and life boats, flood the rooms on the upper decks by coming down upon them from above, throw a man through a bulkhead and set the whole ship awash, would seem to be a thing which no human construction could possibly live through.

As a matter of fact, every modern steamship is a miracle, and almost all of them are successful ones. The loss of a sound vessel in the open sea is of astonishingly rare occurrence, and memory does not recall any Atlantic passenger liner which has been destroyed in a fair fight with the ocean. A ship is designed in two ways, the most withstand the terrific pound of her own weight, and she must be able to recover her balance no matter how violent the roll. Vessels have been rolled under in storms—some through faulty designs, some through the shifting of the cargo, but it is of rarest occurrence. More often they founder through the weakness of the hull construction—their seams are opened or their backs are broken. But that seldom happens to a ship which seems never to happen.

THE OFFICE CAT

Everybody agrees it has been a wonderful fall—except the oldest-inhabitant bragger.

The fellow higher up is getting paid for something about the job that you have not taken the trouble to learn.

Lady (to new maid)—Mandy, I've told you several times to put your hand over your mouth when you yawn. Mandy—Yas'm but the last time I tried it I got bit.

Remember that advertising matter—we heard of a fellow burning up a good stamp once.

After some investigation we have learned that the little song the serenaders were singing the other night is a ditty entitled, "The hardest brick I ever felt is the One That Knocked Me Cold."

John, asked the nagging wife as the bedtime hour approached, "is everything shut up for the night?" "That depends on you," growled Mr. Henpeck. "Everything else is."

Occasionally one finds, in solving crossword puzzles, that in order to reach a happy ending, he must misspell a word or attach to it a meaning that doesn't quite belong. The unfeeling brute, we suppose, puts them in just to make it harder.

Ambition plus application, equals achievement.

It often makes me laugh, So wonderful a treat, To see an athlete run a mile And only move two feet.

Did you ever wonder how much time it takes to write the Office Cat copy? Also, did you ever consider how much a few stray lines like these help along the cause?

The Power of Money.
John D. Rockefeller received a great deal of publicity the other day when his barber revealed that he has worn a wig for 15 years. Which makes a Muskogee man complain that although he has worn a wig 25 years, this fact wouldn't even get his name into the papers.

He—You are the first woman I ever loved.

She—I suppose you told another girl the same thing last night.

He—You lie, woman! I haven't been out for over a week.

Send a load of potatoes or a load of men over a rough road and the little ones will quickly come to the surface.

Oh, Boy!
George—Of course, being back in Charleroi, I miss the cows and sheep and pigs and things.
Diner—Ah, yes, but we still have each other, darling.

Nothing New.
The Prince of Wales has left us flat.
And looks for other game, But we are very used to that. The profiteers, they left us flat. Some years before he came.

Any of us can detect flattery in a minute if it is for somebody else besides ourselves.

Piggly Wiggly!
In Pondoland, South Africa, the practice of buying wives on credit is about to cease. After all, the cash-and-carry system is better.

Ike—Suppose you were in my shoes, what would you do?
Mike—I'd shine them.

Must Be Complete Change
It matters little what kind of a hobby you are taking up provided it takes you outdoors from your studies or work and sends you back fresher and better fitted to grapple with the numerous and varied problems that confront you daily, always remembering that if a hobby is to be really effective it must be something that is a complete change. Hobbies are legion, though some are more attractive than others—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Bacteria in Currency
Coins are much more sanitary than paper money, a recent study made by a German bacteriologist discloses. On a bank note which had been in circulation some time and subjected to frequent handling, as many as 147,000 bacteria were discovered. Metallic coins showed a much smaller bacteria count, but children placing them in their mouths.

Likes Peach Pits
Street boys have been cleared of the suspicion that they were helping themselves to peaches displayed in front of his store by a neighborhood grocer. Recently the grocer discovered that a large fox squirrel was the guilty party. Squirrels do not eat fruit, but this one had learned that there is a pit inside an enticing meaty nut on which it fed.

Trade Balances
Term "trade balance" applies to the difference between the values of exports and imports. The balance of trade is in favor of the United States when this country has exported more than it has imported. This difference was formerly measured roughly by the outflow or inflow of precious metals in connection with exports. Many factors enter into analyses of modern trade relations and only broad general tendencies can be indicated in discussion of trade balances.

The Better Catch
An Idaho man was fishing in Lake Crescent recently. He caught a big northern pike; the biggest he had ever landed in his long and busy life. He was elated. He was crazed with joy, and he telegraphed his wife: "I've got one; weighs seven pounds and it is a beauty." The following was the answer he got: "So have I; weighs ten pounds. Not a beauty—looks like just a common hump."—Idaho Yarn.

Simple Enough
Learned Professor—I cannot understand how people forget children's names—I have no trouble for instance. I was born 2320 years after Socrates; my wife 1900 years after the death of the great Caesar; my son 1000 years after the beginning of the folk wandering—quite simple you see!"

England's Famous Abbey
All the English kings except Edward V were crowned in Westminster Abbey. Edward V inherited the crown when twelve years old. He and his brother were confined in the Tower of London by their uncle the Duke of Gloucester, and were murdered there. The uncle then seized the throne and ruled as Richard III.

Always Keep Serene
Courtesy demands that you, when you are a guest, shall show neither annoyance nor disappointment—no matter what happens. Before you can become a passable guest—let alone a perfect one—you must learn, as it were, not to notice even if hot soup is poured down your back.

All Agreed
He (after a long argument)—"So you see, dear, you misjudged in saying that I was making love to that other girl just because we were out on the porch." She—All right I believe you. Now wipe that eyebrow off your cheek, and tell me home."—Notre Dame Juggler.

Length of Month Differ
There are three kinds of months in the computation of time. The lunar month is 29 days by law but not by actual fact. It varies, sometimes being 29½ days though it may differ as much as six hours in the length of time.

Uses of Medicine
The bitterness of the potion, and the abhorrence of the patient are necessary circumstances to the operation. It must be something to trouble and disturb the stomach that must purge and cure it.—Montaigne.

Electric Mat Kills
Town's Stray Dogs
Albany, Ga.—No longer are doomed dogs in Albany compelled to face the biting squad and meet death in this fashion. Instead, they are disposed of in a more humane way. The electric chair route. Only in their case they are placed on an electric floor instead, and on their journey to the "happy hunting ground" in this manner.

During the last month more than 200 members of the canine family have met death here in this fashion. They go six at a time by standing on an electric-charged metal floor and wearing a copper collar, causing the current to be completed by a slender wire attached to the neckpiece. When the sextette is placed on the floor the executioner turns on the current and it is all over.

68 Minerals Found in Black Hills Mine
Sioux Falls, S. D.—Perhaps the greatest find of minerals in the United States is the Ingersoll mine in the Keystone district of the Black Hills from which 68 different minerals have been taken. The mine formerly was owned by the Harney Peak Tin Mining company.

The minerals were classified by attaches of the South Dakota School of Mines and by mineralogists who have inspected the Ingersoll mine. In addition to the Keystone district. In addition to amphibolite, one of the rare minerals, which is among the commercial ores, the Ingersoll contains a good deposit of beryl.

As a matter of fact, one of the largest crystals of beryl ever found in the Black Hills was discovered here. The crystal is one of the attractions for mining students and mining men. Extensive uses for beryl have been found. Numerous other minerals with unique names have been found in the Ingersoll mine. The price commanded by amethysts is $60 a ton. Lepidolite varies according to quantity shipped. Beryl is held at present at between $50 and $60 the ton.

TROPICAL VALLEY FOUND IN ALASKA

Subterranean Fires Keep District Warm.

Seward, Alaska.—Another tropical garden spot has been found in interior Alaska. Jack Lee and Henry Russell, prospectors, stumbled into a broad valley where mammoth trees, beautiful flowers and wild game abound. This land is southwest of Mother Goose lake, in the Keajulik region, and is so different from the surrounding country, due to warmth from subterranean fires that the men at first believed they had been transported to some tropical clime.

The district west of Iliamna lake is composed chiefly of volcanoes, mountains, tundra, lakes and low-lying hills. The country is absolutely barren of vegetation except moss and short, scrubby alders, with now and then a bunch of short grass.

Coming over a steep mountain pass, at 1700 feet altitude, the men saw an unbroken forest beneath them. Descending into the valley they found trees three feet in diameter and vegetation far in excess of the surrounding country. Thousands of wild flowers carpeted the lush grass and every kind of game was seen. The trees in

The discoverers were unable to find any indication that any other human had trod the fastnesses.

A party of hunters will soon leave for the spot to get photos and description of the second warm-valley reported this summer. The other lies above the Arctic circle in the headwaters of the Porcupine river.

Dance Hall "Bouncer"
at Home in Dress Suit

Milwaukee.—No sheik with patent leather balloon-tire harem or without can start any rough stuff on one of Milwaukee's dance floors and get more than an inch with it.

Bouncers de luxe, many of them athletes at Marquette university, have been installed at public dance halls. They are equally at home in evening clothes or in a battle royal, every man for himself, winner take all.

"It pays to have gentlemen bouncers," said the manager of one of the dance halls. "So, to make it good, I decided to have only college men."

There was a time when the chief requirements of a respectable "bouncer" were a cauliflower ear, a black eye, a high-necked red jersey and a set of brass knuckles, but times have changed.

The "bouncer" of today, who presides over the peace of a modern dance place, must have the ability to wear a dress suit in addition to a shining set of polished manners, the tact of a diplomat and, of course, the ability to "bounce."

Several star athletes at Marquette university, members of the two-year undefeated football team, can be found keeping in trim as "bouncers." They include La Vera Dilweg, all-western end captain-elect of the 1924 team; Francis (Oxie) Lane, 204-pound tackle; Dick Flaherty, 190-pound end, and W. E. O'Mera, a former Marquette squad member.

Annapolis Gay City

From a little settlement on the Severn in 1664, Annapolis grew in size and importance until it became the capital of Maryland. By 1750 it was famed for its gaiety and luxury and was often referred to as "The Paris of the Colonies."

Wild Guess

The music teacher was trying to impress upon her pupils the meaning of F and FF in a song they were about to learn. After explaining the first sign, she said: "Now, children, if F means forte, what does FF mean?" "Lightly," shouted one enthusiastic pupil.

To Clean Painted Walls

It will aid greatly in cleaning the painted walls if they are gone over with thin uncooked starched water. Painted walls and woodwork can be cleaned easily and well by using equal parts of vinegar and kerosene. Wash with a cloth and dry with a dry cloth.

Name Should Be Honored

The first institution for the education of deafmutes in Germany was opened in 1778 at Leipsic by Samuel Heinicke whose experience as a teacher led him to devote all his time to the deaf and dumb.

Wrote Poem at Eighteen

Percy Bysshe Shelly, the celebrated English poet, was only eighteen years old when he wrote his famous poem, "Queen Mab," which is one of the classics of our language. He was drowned off Viareggio, Italy.

The Black friars, the White friars, and the Gray friars, whose names appear frequently in the topography and tales of London, were respectively the Dominican, the Carmelite and the Franciscan orders of friars.

Quite All Right

"Helen, did that young man smoke in the parlor last night? I found burnt matches there." "Oh, no, father; he just lit one or two to see if they were lit."

Farmer's High Position

The farm population includes 30 per cent of the total population of the United States, has 22 per cent of the total national wealth, and earns 20 per cent of the national income.

NOVELTY DANCE JANUARY 9

The Crozier club of St. Mary's Episcopal church started the year run of renewed vim and vigor last night when approximately 20 members gathered in the Church School room and after electing their officers spent a very enjoyable time in merrymaking.

Harry C. Yon, treasurer of the club, was elected to head the club for the coming year, while those elected to work with him were as follows: Vice president, Harry Willmot; secretary, Ruth E. Fellows; and treasurer, Elizabeth E. Easton.

Six new members were enrolled into the club last evening, viz: Misses Ada Kinder, Thelma Egg, Mary Toth, Mrs. Charles Reed, John S. Swan and Fred Crichaon.

A suggestion for a dance or entertainment was presented to the club and following a thorough discussion it was planned that a New Year novelty dance and entertainment would be held Friday, January 9, in the masonic rooms, Fifth street.

At this time the local members will entertain the young people's societies of the Monessen, Monongahela, and Brownsville Episcopal churches.

It was also decided that out of the proceeds amounting to $33.41 made at the Halloween social held October 28, $15 would be donated to the Ladies' Guild to help defray the expenses of remodeling and repairing the church school room. Ten dollars of the remaining amount would go toward reimbursing the treasury for the amount paid to the Japanese Reconstruction fund, some time ago.

A program of games was enjoyed, followed by the serving of refreshments by the hostesses Misses Dorothy and Della Fellows. This was followed by more merrymaking and departure was made at a late hour, the next meeting to be held Tuesday, December 18.

In Society's Realm

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 22 will take place Friday evening, November 28 in the Dugout. The nominating committee will make their report, while initiation will also take place, the last this year. A large attendance is requested.

In the community room of the Elks club the regular monthly meeting of the Gothic Literary club was held Tuesday evening the subject for discussion being on the Philippines. Those appearing on the program were Elva Majors, Nora Swan and Frances Tombaugh, who gave interesting accounts of the subject. Following the lengthy business session, luncheon was served in the dining room, Miss Muriel Scott and Mrs. Grace Fiedler being the hostesses.

The members of the Wednesday Evening 500 club met at the home of Mrs. J. T. Bohlander of 472 Highland avenue, last evening. The affair was in the form of a surprise party held in honor of Mrs. Bohlander, who celebrated her 32nd birthday anniversary yesterday. She was presented with a handsome table lamp by the members as a token of respect in which she is held. Cards, dancing and music enlivened the evening and luncheon was served by Mrs. Edward Stech assisted by her sister, Mrs. George Merger of East Pittsburgh, a visiting guest present.

The Westminster Guild of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. Lois Miksch of Washington avenue last evening. The second chapter of the study book, "Ming Wong" was ably discussed by Miss Nora Swan, Audrey Enix and Ethel Metz. After a business session at which time plans were made for an entertainment at the church on New Year's eve, a social hour was enjoyed by all. A delightful luncheon was served by the hostesses, Lois Miksch, Ethel Jacobs, Emma Showers, Margaret Gunderman, Robina Gunderman and Virginia Buckerton.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Frank Kline of McKean avenue last night, by the members of the All-Wed club. Cards being the feature of entertainment. Favors were awarded to Mrs. Laue, Mrs. Kline and Mrs. Silbaugh. The hostesses represented the country of Germany at this session, serving a delicious luncheon of sauer kraut. Mrs. George Silbaugh entertained the preceding week, Halloween appointments being carried out. Favors were awarded to Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Strauser.

Miss Eleanor Blanche Carson and Harry E. Hostetter, well-known local couple, motored to Cumberland, Maryland this morning, where sometime this afternoon they were united in marriage. From the Maryland Green the young couple went to Saltsburg, Md., where they expect to visit until tomorrow returning in time to enjoy their Thanksgiving dinner with the bride's parents. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Carson of 431 Shady avenue, was charmingly attired in traveling attire. She wore a rosewood ensemble suit with hat to match. They were unattended. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Hostetter of Lincoln avenue extension and is a capable employee of the Pittsburgh Steel company of the shipping department, Monessen. Up until a few weeks ago the bride was a member of the Sophomore class of the Charleroi High school. They are both well and favorably known here. Mr. and Mrs. Hostetter will make their home temporarily with the bride's parents.

INSPECT THE NEW SCHOOL

The growth of the Monongahela schools was one of the topics for discussion during Education week. To this end a group of students from each grade building made a tour of inspection in the new high school building to prepare a report to present to their fellow students. The various delegations were met by Principal H. W. Crane and escorted through the building.

Thanksgiving Day

is never a forced holiday in this country, for nowhere has a people more to be thankful for.

The stability of our institutions, the proved fertility of our soil and productiveness of our industries—and most of all, the character of our citizenship, make our Thanksgiving real.

Obstinate Lady Some Embarrassment

The landward face of the Rock of Gibraltar stands directly opposite to a conspicuous height, called the "Queen of Spain's Chair."

This name has its origin in a legend of the great siege. It is said that the queen of Spain took up a position on this height, vowing she would not leave it till she saw the Spanish flag flying over the Rock of Gibraltar. A report of the royal lady's situation ultimately reached the governor, General Elliott, who at once most gallantly caused the Spanish flag to be waved on the summit of the Rock.

Whether the legend is true or not, it is certain that there are no more striking aspects of the Rock than those obtained by the pedestrians who make the rough ascent up to the "Queen of Spain's Chair." In traversing the Spanish town of Lincea, separated from the Rock by the tongue of neutral ground some half-mile in length, pictures of primitive Spain present themselves at every turn.

In making the tower the objective, she emerges from the town by narrow footpaths and donkey tracks. The rough slopes of the hill afford pasture for numerous herds of goats, every herd tended by a shepherd with a long staff.

A pile of naked rock crowns the summit of the hill. On the topmost of these stands an ancient watch-tower.

horizon is a magnificent panorama of sea and mountain, a picture in which the situation of the Rock presents its all significance, thrust out into the blue Mediterranean toward the mountains of Morocco.

Tree Gives Evidence as to Age of Skull

More than four hundred years ago man died in British Columbia and other Nature herself erected over his grave a tombstone on which she scribbled considerable data concerning him.

The tombstone was a tree. Anthropologists, digging under its roots, and a skull of unusually narrow shape in which a hole had been bored, presumably so that it could be filled with some preservative material.

How long ago did the red man practice this form of embalming his dead? At a time this question puzzled the entomologists. Then they turned to the tree. Annual rings of growth indicating more than four hundred years were found on the trunk. A still later age for the skull is probable since the outside layers of this stump had been burned off.

The studies leading to this interesting conclusion were conducted under the direction of Harlan I. Smith the geological survey of Canada.

Protect Birds of Paradise

The lure of the gorgeous plumage of the birds of paradise leads many hunters to the almost inaccessible parts of New Guinea. In spite of the risk and danger, so many are in the business that this wonderful, feathered beauty is in danger of extinction. As a result the Dutch government of New Guinea is considering a law to protect them. The birds are found in high mountains and waste, frowning swamps and jungle, and hundreds of gunners, brave these perils every year. Sometimes a party is expelled to live for months amidst the poisonous everglades surrounded by deadly reptiles, hostile natives and prowling animals. The sought-for rarity of the plumes, those of the blue bird of paradise, such as $500 has been paid for a single specimen, while red, brown and white ones command prices from $25 to $500.

The Wrong Hat

A good parson was a bit absent-minded and somewhere or other during the day, possibly at the barber's, he acquired a hat that looked like his but belonged to someone else. That evening he dined out when the guests were leaving the parson accompanied them to the door. "This is yours, is it not?" said the parson, picking up the parson's hat. "Yes," said the parson, "That is a queer smile on the face as he handed over the gear. For pasted in the crown of the hat was a card bearing this legend, meant for all and sundry: 'No, fool! This ain't your hat.'—Boston Transcript.

Precedent Established

ated in dignified ease on a mat before his booth, a Chinese vegetable dealer proceeded to arrange some assortments of artichokes. A haughty customer came along and overturned a sure, thus disclosing that the finest artichokes were on top. Whereupon upbraided the vender, saying: "It is it, why one, that you put the best artichokes at the top?" "Is it not that way with life, Honor?" responded the vender calmly, "e not the biggest men at the top?"

The little answered: "Sometimes I say a-on muddy's knees and sometimes to the side of the bed." "and how about you, little boy?" "I don't need to pray. I sleep daddy."—Everybody's Magazine.

Betrayed by Mercury

Guiltily secrets are said to be betrayed unerringly by an apparatus invented by Dr. Albert Schneider, of the University of California. The suspect places the forefinger of each hand on contacts from which run minute wires to a capillary electrometer and an arrangement of glass tubing. Through one tube runs a fine thread of mercury, fluctuations of which are said to betray the suspect.—London Answers.

Musical Meals for Fish

Additional evidence that fishes are able to hear has been produced by a German scientist, who fed blind fishes to a musical accompaniment. The fishes, after the sixth day of this treatment, always came up to the surface when the whistle blew, and, once learned, the trick was never forgotten, the fishes invariably appearing to time during a 30-day test.—London T.R.Bits.

Sure of His Position

Congressman Blather was a passenger on the steamship Sieve, which was slowly sinking. The passengers were climbing into the lifeboats. "Congressman Blather," a reporter asked the ill-fated craft, "there's a chance for some publicity. If you cared—" "You may quote me as saying," replied the statesman, "that I am heartily in favor of a back-to-the-land movement."

There are some women in New York who even their living simply by shopping. These women are the "price testers" employed by the big stores. Their work consists in visiting stores selling goods similar to those sold by the store they are employed by, and making a comparison.

Triumphs of Philosophy

Philosophy easily triumphs over ill-fortune, past and future; but present ills triumph over philosophy. The good we have received from any one should make us bear with the ill we have suffered. Weakness often gets the better of those ills which reason could not.—La Rochefoucauld.

Their Industry Gone

Picking pebbles for use in huge grinding mills used to be a profitable industry along the Pacific coast. Science has invented a steel ball which does the work more quickly and lasts twice as long. As a result the market for pebbles is destroyed. The pebble pickers are hunting new jobs.

Ancient Card Game

The origin of the game of whist is very obscure, but under its old name of triumph it was generally understood that Bishop Latimer preached a Christmas sermon in 1529 at Cambridge in which the allegories were based on the game.

Exiled Acadians in Quaker City in 1775

Longfellow's monument in the Acadia country is a reminder that the Acadians of "Evangeline" as a matter of historic fact came to Philadelphia in three sloops in the fall of 1755.

There were 454 of these unfortunate, of whom Longfellow's hero and heroine were typical.

Anthony Benezet, whose name is perpetuated in a Germantown street, obtained funds for them from the assembly. Samuel Emien of the well-known Quaker family gave land for the houses which they put up with the money collected by Benezet. The little huts were erected on the north side of Pine street between Fifth and Sixth.

Here they made wooden shoes, and "linsey" cloth from rags which they solicited.

Christ church and "Old Swedes," of course, figure in the poem; the Friends' almshouse at Walnut place has been razed. The traditional resting place of the two lovers, St. Joseph's church, is the oldest Catholic church in the country. Reached through an archway of Willing's alley between Third and Fourth streets south of Walnut, it is like the little hidden churches of London, and thousands of persons well acquainted with such historic shrines as Carpenter's hall hardly know of the existence of the church built on the site of Father Grignon's one-story "Masshouse" put up in the year that Washington was born.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Birds That Keep Up

With the Procession

Many species of birds have shown that they are possessed of a progressive spirit that has prompted them to take advantage of improved conditions offered by the advance of civilization. Thus, says an exchange, the chimney swift, which before houses with chimneys were built, lived and built its nests in hollow trees, now usually finds chimneys more satisfactory and indefinitely safer.

The barn swallow, which formerly built its nest on a ledge on the side of some cliff or cave, a situation still sometimes utilized in the wilder parts of the country, now generally makes use of the rafters of barns as offering better protection both from the elements and his enemies.

The natural nesting place of the phoebe is a narrow ledge on the face of some cliff, but the greater majority now find that bridges, outhouses and other man-made structures offer more advantageous situations, and a pair is rarely found occupying the former site. The martins and wrens, which once nested in hollow trees exclusively, now prefer the bird boxes built by kindly human beings when they can find one before it is pre-empted by the ubiquitous English sparrow.

Wouldn't Stand for That

She was a plump widow, with two charming daughters, and was beginning to wear her "weeds" lightly.

All the same, when the minister called she said: "Ah! I feel the loss of my poor, dear husband very much. I never have any appetite for anything now."

The parson was all sympathy, and, in the attempt to cheer her by pointing out what a comfort to her her daughters must be, replied: "I can quite understand that but you are soled in—"

"S-l-r-r-r!" interrupted the indignant woman, "allow me to inform you that I am not laced in at all."

Ancient Wine Press

From the scanty notices contained in the Bible, it appears that the wine presses of the ancient Hebrews consisted of two receptacles at different elevations, in the upper of which the grapes were trodden, while the lower one received the expressed juice. The two vats are mentioned together only in Joel 3:13—"The press is full, the vats overflow"—the upper vat being full of grapes, the lower one overflowing with the juice that had been pressed out and had come down from the upper vat. The two vats were usually hewn out of the solid rock. Ancient wine presses so constructed are still to be seen in Palestine.

A Simple Matter

They were sitting on the piazza of a summer hotel swapping stories. "Ever hear this one?" asked the dark young man. "A dog was tied to a rope fourteen feet long. Twenty feet away was a fat, juicy bone. How did the dog get to the bone?"

"Oh, that's an old gag," said his companion. "You want me to say, 'I gave it up,' and then you'd say, 'That's what the other cur did.'"

"No, you're wrong, for the dog got the bone."

"Well, how did he get it?"

"Why, the other end of the rope was not tied."

Mending Glassware

There are several good preparations for mending broken tumblers and other glassware, but the following is highly recommended by a housewife, who claims the mended article can be put into boiling water without breaking apart.

To make the preparation add one part solution of bichromate of potash to five parts of gelatin. Cover the broken edges of the glass with this, press them together and stand the mended article in the direct sunlight for a few hours. If neatly done the break will not be visible.

Not Prehistoric

Some years ago an expert announced the discovery of clear evidence of prehistoric mural paintings in a cave on the Cornish coast, and a French authority on Neolithic art, which appears to have flourished about 20,000 years ago, accepted them as genuine. However, a local fisherman appeared on the scene and confessed that he was the artist. He had, he explained, cleaned his brush on the walls of the cave after painting his boat.

Date of Creation Unknown

Many theologians have occupied themselves with the problem of the actual date of creation. Bishop Ussher computed the year at 4004 B. C. A universal history, a work of 42 volumes, published in London in 1779, devotes some space to the fixing of the actual time. It discusses the probability of its being March 21, 4004 B. C., and September 21, 4004 B. C., and inclines toward the latter date.

Church Gets Old Bell

The famous old bell brought around Cape Horn in the early '60s and used as a fire bell in General Allen's time at Vancouver barracks at Vancouver, Wash., has been converted into a church bell to call worshippers to the Norwegian Lutheran church in Vancouver. The bell being of careful casting is more musical than the ordinary ringer used in fire stations.

Capital's First Newspaper

The first newspaper published in what is now the city of Washington was the Times and Potomack Pocket. It started in February, 1789, the exact date being uncertain. The paper was delivered to subscribers in town by a "carrier" at their houses, weekly, on Wednesday, and to those at a distance by the quickest conveyance.

Form of Baptism

Baptism in the Catholic church was originally by immersion. According to the Catholic Encyclopedia, immersion as a regular method of baptism prevailed until about the Twelfth century. In some places individual Catholic churches baptized by immersion until several hundred years later.

Three Ways

There are three ways to learn the value of a dollar. The first is to spend it and see what you'll get for it. The second is to earn it and see what you give for it. The third is to save it and learn for the things it might buy if you were weak enough to spend it.—Boston Transcript.

Need Not Fear Black Snake

The bite of the black snake is regarded as poisonous. Actually the bite of a black snake is not as harmful as a cat scratch, because the black snake has no poison sacks and keeps its teeth a great deal cleaner than a cat keeps its claws.

Honey a Vegetable

The Department of Agriculture says that honey is a vegetable product. The fluid is taken directly from the flowers. The bee adds enzymes which have an effect upon the sugar content of the honey, but the final result is still a vegetable.

England's First Laureate

Although many poets from Chaucer's time are regarded as poets-laureate of England, nevertheless the office of laureate was not legally established until 1619, when the honor was conferred on the great Ben Jonson.

Anticipation Hurts

Sorrow itself is not so hard to bear as the thoughts of sorrow coming. Airy ghosts that work no harm do verify us more than men in steel with bloody purpose.—Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

Will Stock Vast Game Preserve With Lions and Tigers

CHICAGO — American sportsmen in the future need not voyage to Africa and India to shoot lions and tigers. They will be able to kill these royal beasts in California between a game of tennis and a round of golf.

The Pacific Coast Sportsmen's Club, 924 Loew's State Building, Los Angeles, incorporated in Sacramento, plans, according to an announcement here by Frederick L. Sims, a director, to establish a 50,000 acre hunting preserve in California which will be stocked with the following animals and birds: One hundred African lions, forty Bengal tigers, twenty leopards, 100 pumas or mountain lions, 150 black bears, 1,000 buffalo, 500 elk, 500 deer, 400 wild boars, 400 peccaries, 40,000 ring-neck pheasants, 10,000 Hungarian partridges, 5,000 bobwhite quail, 400 wild turkeys, 400 wild peafowl and 400 wild guinea fowl.

The entire tract will be fenced aside for carnivorous beasts and will be enclosed by an iron-wire fence twelve feet high with a three foot overhang. Annual buffalo hunts will be staged. Provision has been made for expending

There will be a $250,000 club house, 200 cottages, golf courses, tennis courts, polo fields, aviation fields, rifle and archery ranges, race track and swimming pools. The club will have 4,000 members from over the United States. It will be opened, according to plans, next September.

Officers of the association are: Ray Meacham, Long Beach, Calif., president; John Rawley, Alhambra, Calif., vice-president; Roland Hill, Bakersfield, Calif., secretary; C. C. West, San Gabriel, Calif., treasurer.

INTRODUCTION OF IMPROVED COD LIVER OIL TABLET IS GREAT NEWS TO THOUSANDS OF SKINNY FOLKS

Local Druggists Guarantee Relief to Weak, Skinny, Scrawny Folks by Introducing Earle's Hypo-Cod in Tablet Form, the Improved Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites Tablet.

Every Bottle Sold on Positive Guarantee of Satisfaction or Money Back.

To weak, scrawny, skinny folks who have tried everything under the sun but Cod Liver Oil to put on flesh and build up their strength comes the startling and welcome announcement of a new and wonderful compound of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites tablet called Earle's Hypo-Cod in Tablet Form that is guaranteed to increase the appetite, put on flesh and build up worn out and overworked systems. This new Cod Liver Oil is available at every drug store in this State so there is no longer any reason for being tired, frail, worn-out, run down, or discouraged over their condition. The vast number of underweights who have given up in despair can take a new lease on life and rejoice because they can now take this new Cod Liver Oil, enriched with combined Hypophosphites in an easy to take tablet. Earle's Hypo-Cod Tablets combine the medicinal extractives of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Wild Cherry, Malt, Peptonate of Iron, Papain, Casein and the Hypophosphites of Lime, Soda, Manganese, Iron, Quinine and Strychnine. Competent doctors from the four corners of the earth are agreed that this combination is without an equal as a health and strength builder. For years Earle's Hypo-Cod has enjoyed a remarkable sale throughout the country and thousands of testimonials telling of the wonderful results obtained with it are on file at the head offices of the Earle Chemical Co., of Wheeling, W. Va. The tablet form of this great medicine has been produced as a more practical and economical way of taking Cod Liver Oil and the tablets can be carried in the pocket or purse and taken under any and all circumstances. If Hypo-Cod Tablets are taken regularly, strength will be built up and nothing will be lost.

Don't plod along another day handicapped with life's worst enemy—poor health, but hurry to your drug store for a bottle of Hypo-Cod Tablets and start on the right road to real living. Recommended in Charleroi by Frank J. John and Piper's Pharmacy, and in Roscoe by Allison's Drug Store and other good druggists everywhere. Two weeks' treatment, $2.00.

Cod Liver Oil Kiddies Will Take

Weak, skinny, scrawny, scraggly kiddies need Cod Liver Oil—lots of it. Mothers, grandmothers, and great grandmothers know it's the best health builder in the world for little bodies, but the great question with them has been how to get the children to take the miserable tasting stuff.

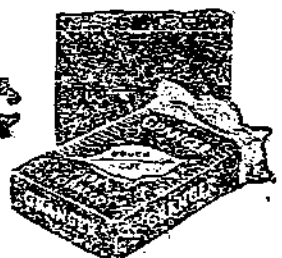

With the introduction of Hypo-Cod in Tablet Form, the improved Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites Tablets, their troubles are at an end. These tablets contain Cod Liver Oil in abundance—not the terrible tasting, fishy kind. Just the extractives of the oil are used—that part which contains the millions of strength and flesh building vitamins. The qualities which make kiddies cry and fight not to take is junked in the process of extraction.

The Way of Life

This brief sermon by the wayside is from the Tifton Gazette: "Some men seem to make money without effort, while some women seem to annex more husbands than the law allows without any more effort. It's the other way round with some men, who can't make money no matter how hard they try, while some women find it utterly impossible to even annex the one husband allowed by law. But then, that's the way of life."

How Easy the Public!

Is it not notorious how small a fraction of society takes any interest in the conduct of public affairs? how important trades union issues, such as a strike, are left to be determined by a handful of the men who are vitally concerned? how great a part is played by catch-phrases and relatively unimportant local issues in our national elections?—The Right Hon. Herbert Fisher in the Common Weal.

Crime or Jest?

Not long ago a small box with an insufficient address was held up at an English post office. As the address could not be found it was opened and disclosed a parcel of bones, established to be human. The mystery was never cleared up. What crime it shrouded, or whether it was a joke on the part of some hospital student, must be left to conjecture.

Modern Beliefs

"There are three extremely common myths," says William Lyon Phelps, in Scribner's. "Every writer except the most popular believes that his publishers do not sufficiently advertise his works; every owner of a rising house believes that his architect does not give the case sufficient personal attention; every golf player believes that his friend plays his worst game when he is a partner and his best when he is an opponent."

Chemicals Carried to Sea

Thirty-two of the ninety-two elements known to exist have been found in sea water. Scientists believe that most of the others are there, and await merely the development of new methods of chemical analysis to bring them to light. These chemicals have been washed into the sea from the rocks of the land. Every year 500,000,000 tons of salts are carried to the sea by the American rivers alone.

Road Taxes Centuries Old

Autoists who feel abused at the modern highway vehicle tax may find some solace in the fact that coaches were made to pay highway taxes as far back as 1661. In that year more than 400 coaches operating in London and vicinity had to pay taxes to use the London and Westminster streets.

Tribe Dying Out

A puzzling disease similar to leprosy is gradually exterminating the Sican Indians in the Findlay river district in northwestern Canada. Less than 200 natives of the tribe are left out of the 1,000 that lived a few years ago. Medical authorities are unable to find a cure for the disease.

No Obstacle to Wireless

Wireless waves can leap through 120 feet of solid rock almost as swiftly as through free air. This was demonstrated recently in Ohio when a receiving set placed that distance underground in a mine shaft picked up concerts from local and distant stations.

London's Terrible Fire

The great fire which laid London low in 1666 raged for five days and devastated 436 acres. It laid waste 460 streets, destroying 89 churches and 13,200 houses. About 20,000 people were made homeless.

Electricity's Great Speed

Electricity travels with much greater speed than either light or sound. It covers 288,000 miles in a second, while light travels 186,000 miles to the second and sound only 734 miles in the same time.

Gorillas Not Man Eaters

Gorillas, ferocious though they seem to be, are not carnivorous. If they kill a human being or an animal they do not eat the flesh of their victim. They kill generally in self-defense.

Intelligence of Pigs

Doubtless the ugliness of pigs and the ugly noises they make have earned them their bad name, but actually their intelligence stands on a level with that of a horse.

Use for Old Films

OPEN EVENINGS

Today and Yesterday

FEW youngsters to-day ever saw a horse-hair sofa. They wouldn't know what to do with a fire taper, carpet stretcher, or coal oil lamp. They couldn't braid rags into a rug, or wind yarn without tangling. But they know the how and why of typewriters, phonographs, radios, telephones, automobiles; what happens when a push of the button gives light, or a kodak's flash fixes their image on paper.

Their education is as modern as the advertisements they see. They have no more use for the lamp and chimney of yesterday than you for the wick and tallow of the day before.

Advertisements induce such progress. They urge wide use that means improvement. They help you lift the out-of-date into the attic—rid you of the water buckets and soap kettles of slavery. They bring late improvements within your reach.

Read the advertisements regularly. Keep alert to the new.

Without advertising, you would never know a product's worth until you had bought it

What is a "Funker's Dam"?

A "funker's dam," says the Kansas City Star, is a wall of dough or of soft clay raised around a spot which a plumber, in repairing, desires to flood with solder. The material of this dam can be used only once, and is thrown away after this very temporary period of usefulness. Hence the saying "not worth a funkler's dam," which either through a perverse humor or through misunderstanding has been converted into profanity by the addition of a "dam" to the word "funker."

Loyal souls of Charleroi and North Charleroi, and those of the surrounding places that come within the jurisdiction of the Charleroi Chapter, are urged to redouble their efforts today and tomorrow, the last in the period officially designated for the enrolling of members in the Red Cross organization, which has done so much for humanity over a period of years.

As the time for the close of the drive draws near, it can be said with truthfulness that the people of Charleroi and the territory that is embraced within the region involved in the local chapter, are realizing more and more the necessity for, and the great institution the Red Cross is. Having this thought in mind, it is their prerogative to help through substantial approbation what they feel in their "heart of hearts."

"Join the Red Cross" and thus attest your appreciation of, and sympathy for, an organization whose humane impulses cause them to ever extend a helping hand to the sick and the disabled soldier and the ex-service man, and its every cause coming within their jurisdiction.

WHY DIRTS KNOW, LOVE Voice of One-Time Enemy

Toronto.—Thousands of wild birds know Jack Miner's voice and return to him yearly at his home in Kingsville, Canada.

"There were 12 of us in our family," said Miner, "and a dollar bill looked as big as a horse blanket, so my eldest brother and I took to hunting for the market. We became expert shots and many times left a bloody trail behind us. Market hunting is not sport, but murder in the first degree.

"I had positive proof that the wildest of these creatures knew us as their deadly enemies. Finally the thought came to me that surely they would know a friend if they had one. 'I have learned a few notes of the wild goose language. I now have tags returned to me of the wild geese from 23 different states and provinces covering an area of about 4,000,000 square miles. But about the most encouraging fact is that fully 40 per cent of the birds I tag in the fall return to me the following spring.

"The last six or seven years I have fed them during March and April from 1,000 to 3,200 bushels of corn each year. Thousands of people come to see them."

Golden Ankle Chain Newest Fad in Paris

Paris.—The display of fashions at the Longchamps races indicated that skirts are now climbing back toward the knee, with no guarantee whatever, of course, that the knee is where they will stop.

Beauties from all parts of the world were among the huge crowd at the track, many of them introducing a novelty which will doubtless be the rage in America within a few days as it is in order there already.

This consisted of a thin gold chain worn on the right ankle, outside the stocking. As far as could be learned from close scrutiny and some inquiry, this chain has no use whatsoever.

Simplicity of lines, however, was observed in most of the brilliant costumes. Coats were of seven-eighths length with beige the prevailing color. They were trimmed with furs, which in many cases, represented no more than ordinary rabbit skins made up in imitation of various expensive furs.

ACTION AGAINST DOCTOR ENDS

Non-Suit Ends Suit Against Dr. John W. Farquhar of California, Who Is Charged With Mal-Practice In Surgical Operation

SETTING OF A RIGHT ARM

Surgeon At Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, Testifies That In His Opinion the Plaintiff Had Failed to Follow Instructions of the Physician

A compulsory non-suit was entered yesterday by the court in the case of William Vaughan of California, against Dr. John W. Farquhar, a surgeon at the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, after the court ruled that the plaintiff had failed to show negligence. This was a suit to recover damages for alleged malpractice. Dr. Farquhar had set the right arm of the plaintiff, which was broken in a mine accident. Mr. Vaughan alleged that it had not been set properly, and that it was necessary for him to go to the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, for treatment.

cover damages for alleged malpractice. Dr. Farquhar had set the right arm of the plaintiff, which was broken in a mine accident. Mr. Vaughan alleged that it had not been set properly, and that it was necessary for him to go to the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, for treatment.

Dr. W. C. Weil, a surgeon of the Mercy hospital, testified that he had treated the plaintiff's arm. He had also examined the arm in court since this case was started. The fingers were a little stiff, but Dr. Weil stated that this he believed was due to the fact that the plaintiff had failed to exercise his hand and arm as he had been instructed to do.

The case of Ellsworth E. Colvin et al., against J. Marr McMahan is still on trial before Judge James I. Brown. This case was called Monday and is now with the jury. The plaintiff alleged that McMahan had mined illegally from under their lands.
